

BALTIMORE

RED LINE

CONNECTING COMMUNITIES.

Our Goal: To create a stronger and better connected public transit system that supports job growth, enhances our environment, and connects to vital services throughout the Baltimore region. We set out on this journey with a promise – to make sure this project serves and benefits communities. With a series of design principles and planning strategies focused on people, this promise has been kept through the Red Line Community Compact.

To learn more about the Community Compact and how you can get involved in the project, visit: gobaltimoreredline.com

There is work to be done, and challenges ahead. The success of this project depends, in no small part, on your involvement. Visit the website, join the Red Line email list, and speak out at a community meeting. Do whatever you can – be a part of this great new piece of Baltimore's transit system.
